“Hello Grief is a place to share and learn what it means to live a new normal, life after loss. In Our Community, we support each other when grief rears its ugly head, but we also know that loss does not define who we are. This is a place to share, learn, and connect with others living with loss.

Hello Grief provides information and resources about grief in order to break through the current culture of avoidance that surrounds death and loss. Instead, Hello Grief addresses bereavement head-on for those who are helping others cope, as well as those who need support on their own personal journey with grief. In a world that doesn't get it, we do.”

The National Alliance for Grieving Children held its 14th annual symposium in Cleveland, Ohio in June. CGC Advisory Council members, Will Bloedow and Mike Emery, along with Director, Loris Damerow made the trip to learn about ways to help our center grow and more about what grieving families need. We look forward to sharing what we have learned in the upcoming months.

One enthusiastic camper's comment...

“I wish it could last all summer.”

11 CGC kids attend Camp Lloyd

11 kids from the Center for Grieving Children attended this year's Camp Lloyd, a week-long day camp for kids who have experienced a loss. Held at the University of Wisconsin Green Bay, interactive groups are interspersed with fun and summer recreation. Read the full article about camp on line at the Green Bay Press Gazette web site:
